

Disclosure Statement

Why Is Housing Finance Still Stuck in Such a Primitive Stage?

Robert J. Shiller

1. This paper has not received financial support, except unconditionally via my John William Sterling Chair in Economics at Yale University.
2. In addition to my Yale salary and Chair research funds, I receive support from Barclays Bank PLC (London, UK) for my work with them developing stock market investment products. I also receive speaker's fees via my speaker's bureau, The Leigh Bureau. I also receive money from Project Syndicate and the New York Times, where I write columns. I serve on the Competitive Markets Advisory Panel for the CME Group (Chicago Mercantile Exchange). My Yale disclosure page offers complete details: <http://www.econ.yale.edu/~shiller/ShillerDisclosure.pdf>. I have not signed any non-disclosure agreements.
3. I am serving unpaid for the index committee for the S&P/Case-Shiller Home Price Indices for Standard and Poor's. Also, I am serving unpaid on a "Future of Finance Advisory Council" for the CFA Institute (chartered financial analysts).
4. I don't see any potential conflicts arising from activities of family members.
5. No other party had the right to review this paper before publication.
