Aid Under Fire: Development Projects and Civil Conflict
Joseph H. Felter
Stanford University

Support for my research and contributions to Aid Under Fire: Development Projects and Civil Conflict with Benjamin Crost and Patrick Johnston submitted to the American Economic Review was provided in part by:

- 1) U.S. Department of Defense Minerva research initiative through the Air Force Office of Scientific Research (AFOSR) under Award FA9550-09-1-0314.
- 2) Office of Naval Research through Award N000141110735 at the National Bureau of Economic Research (NBER).

Access to the incident level conflict data used in this analysis was provided by the Chief of Staff, Armed Forces of the Philippines and facilitated in part by a long standing professional relationship with the Philippine Armed Forces established during my tenure as a US military attaché in the Philippines. See General Victor Ibrado letter dated February 10, 2010 attached.

Colonel Joseph H. Felter, Ph.D. USA (ret.)
