

Disclosure Statement

A numerical investigation of the prospects for negative emissions leakage

Niven Winchester

The Joint Program on the Science and Policy of Global Change is funded by the US Department of Energy and a consortium of government and industrial sponsors (for the complete list see <http://globalchange.mit.edu/sponsors/all>). The research conducted for “A numerical examination of the prospects for negative emissions leakage” was not tied to a specific funding source.

Institutional Review Board approval was not obtained as this research is not human subjects research as defined in federal regulations.