

Disclosure statement for Hong Luo

Manuscript title: When does product liability risk chill innovation? Evidence from medical implants

The author declares that he has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.