

Disclosure Statement Martin Neil Baily

1. The research for the paper “US Manufacturing: Understanding Its Past and Potential Future” Journal of Economic Perspectives, Number 1, 2014 was supported by unrestricted funds to the Economic Studies Program at Brookings and from the Brookings endowment, including the endowed chairs held by the authors.
2. Baily is a paid Advisor to the McKinsey Global Institute (MGI) which has published its own reports on the US manufacturing sector. No one at MGI or at McKinsey & Company has reviewed or exerted control over this paper or its findings. Baily has been a paid consultant to other private sector companies; however none of these has supported, controlled or had any direct involvement with this research.
3. Baily does not have an unpaid position in any organization with an interest in this research.
4. No relative has a conflicting interest in the research.
5. No one except the authors had the right to review this paper.