

Notes

The Annual Meeting of the American Economic Association will be held in San Diego, CA, January 3–5, 2004. The headquarters hotel is the San Diego Marriott Hotel and Marina. The Professional Placement Service interview tables will be located at the Manchester Grand Hyatt, San Diego, CA. For more information, call ISM at (312) 793-4904 between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. CST or e-mail (JConno@ides.state.il.us). There will be no on-site placement registration nor will there be an on-site message exchange center; all correspondence should take place over the Internet, including interview scheduling, prior to arrival in San Diego.

KiddieCorp will provide professional child care services for children 6 months-12 years at the San Diego Marriott Hotel and Marina. KiddieCorp teams are bonded, qualified child care specialists who are carefully selected and trained. It will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. January 3 and 4 and 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., January 5. Fees are $52.00 per morning, and $47.00 per afternoon. For more information and a registration form, write to ASSA, 2014 Broadway, Suite 305, Nashville, TN 37203 or go to the AEA website at (www.vanderbilt.edu/AEA).

Preliminary Call for Papers or Sessions for the January 2005 American Economic Association. Electronic submission of abstracts is now possible. Members wishing to give papers or organize complete sessions for the program for the meetings to be held in Philadelphia, PA, January 7-9, 2005, are invited to send their ideas to Professor Daniel L. McFadden, American Economic Association, 2014 Broadway, Suite 305, Nashville, TN 37203 either electronically (please visit the AEA web site for directions) or by mail. Please mark envelope "AEA Meetings 2005." To be considered, abstracts of papers should be submitted in duplicate, contain Journal of Economic Literature bibliographic codes, and be re- ceived by February 1, 2004. At least one author of each paper must be an AEA member. Proposals for complete sessions have a much higher probability of inclusion than papers submitted individually. (Non-economist authors of papers on a complete session proposal organized by a member must join the AEA only if the session is selected for the Program.) Econometric studies or highly mathematical papers are not appropriate for sessions sponsored by the AEA; members wishing to present such papers may submit their proposals or abstracts to the Econometric Society. Please do not send a completed paper. The Association discourages multiple proposals from the same person (under no circumstances should more than two be submitted by the same proposer).

John Bates Clark Medal. The American Economic Association is pleased to announce that Steven Levitt was awarded the John Bates Clark Medal for 2003.

2003 Distinguished Fellows. The Association is pleased to announce that the Distinguished Fellows for 2003 are Irma Adelman, Jagdish Baghwati and T. N. Srinivasan.

Electronic Directory of Members. We are preparing the 2003 electronic Directory of Members and urge all members to enter their bibliographical information online. Your online account number and password are required to access your account. If you have misplaced your online account number and password, e-mail (aeainfo@vanderbilt.edu) or telephone, (615) 322-2595.

Job Openings for Economists. The Executive Committee voted in its April 2002 meeting to institute a charge for job listings in JOE, beginning with the September 2002 electronic issue. For 2003, each listing costs $150. See (www.vanderbilt.edu/AEA).

Call for Artists. For approximately 20 years, the program cover for the Allied Science Associations' annual meetings has featured artwork of economists or their spouses—Will Baumol, Harry Johnson, Betsy Bailey, Lee Weiss, Jan Pen, Julie Ann Elston, Robert Fogel and Assar Lindbeck to name a few. If you would like to see your artwork on a cover or have suggestions for future covers, please let us hear from you. Artwork can be any medium that can be reproduced or photographed, i.e., photographs, paintings, etchings, fiber art, sculpture, jewelry, pottery, etc. We DO NOT want the original art. When accepted, a color transparency, slide, or photograph (color or black and white) will be required by June prior to the meetings. Should you wish to submit the name of a colleague, we will be happy to contact him/her. As you might guess, there is no remuneration, just the honor of having your work recognized. We look forward to receiving names and suggestions for future ASSA program covers. Send to ASSA Cover, American Economic Association, 2014 Broadway, Suite 305, Nashville, TN 37203.

Call for abstracts. The Committee on the Status of Women in the Economics Profession (CSWEP) of the American Economic Association will sponsor sessions at the January 2005 American Economic Association meetings in Philadelphia. We will be organizing three sessions on gender-related topics and three sessions on nongender-related topics. For the gender-related sessions, we are particularly interested in receiving proposals on aspects of women's activities in the economics profession, on the economics of spousal relationships and on issues of child care. However, anyone doing research with gender implications is encouraged to submit an abstract. The three sessions on nongender-related topics will focus on technology. Abstracts are particularly encouraged in the areas of information technology and international development, on technology and international trade (particularly services), and on technology and productivity growth. However, all research topics in the general area of technology are welcome. Accepted papers will be considered for publication in the Papers and Proceedings issue of the American Economic Review. Send a cover letter (specifying to which set of sessions the paper is being submitted) and three copies of a one- to two-page abstract (250–1000 words), clearly labeled with the paper title, authors' names, affiliations and complete contact information by January 12, 2004, to Francine Blau, CSWEP Chair. We strongly encourage e-mail submissions to (CSWEP@cornell.edu). Hard copy submissions may be sent to Francine Blau, CSWEP Chair, School of Industrial and Labor Relations, 265 Ives Hall, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY 14853-3901. Please note on envelope "CSWEP Abstract."

Call for Papers. The 68th Annual Meeting of the Midwest Economics Association will be held March 19–21, 2004, in Chicago, Illinois. The MEA invites papers and organized sessions in all areas of economics—theoretical, quantitative, institutional or policy oriented. If you would like to submit a paper for consideration, send two copies of a one-page abstract indicating appropriate JEL classification along with the appropriate submission fee to Professor Robert Willis, President, Midwest Economics Association, PO Box 467, Cameron, MO 64429. Submissions may also be faxed to 816-632-7820 or sent electronically to (MEA@grinnell.edu). If you would like to submit an organized session, please contact Professor Robert Willis by September 9, 2003. See the MEA website at (<http://web.grinnell.edu/MEA/>) for guidelines on organizing a session. Deadline is October 3, 2003.

The University of Massachusetts Lowell will host a conference on the topic "Education for Sustainable Development," October 23–24, 2003. Conference papers and discussions will address at least one of the following: the strategies being used for embedding concepts of sustainable development in undergraduate or graduate programs; how universities are embedding themselves in their region's geographic, social and economic fabric; how institutions of higher education are transforming themselves into regional models for sustainability. The conference is organized by the university's Committee on Industrial Theory and Assessment. For more information visit (<http://www.uml.edu/com/CITA/>) or contact Professor Robert Forrant at (rforrant@external.umass.edu).

Call for papers. The 40th Annual Meeting of the Missouri Valley Economic Association will be held in Kansas City, Missouri, February 26–28, 2004. The MVEA invites papers and organized sessions in all areas of economics. All papers presented at this conference may be submitted to referees for possible publication in the Journal of Economics. Paper proposals can be a completed paper or a 500-word abstract that indicates JEL categories. All presenters are assumed to be available as chairs and/or discussants in their indicated areas of interest. Send proposals for papers, sessions, chairs and discussants to Willadee Wehmeyer, MVEA President, MidAmerica Nazarene University, 2030 East College Way, Olathe, KS 66062; tel.: (913) 782-3750, ext. 179; fax: (913) 791-3409; e-mail: (wwehmeyer@mnu.edu). Deadline is October 15, 2003. Additional information about MVEA can be found at (<http://www.mvea.net>).

Call for papers. The *Journal of Family and Economic Issues (JFEI), published quarterly by the Kluwer Academic/Human Sciences Press, is accepting submissions for publication considerations. Appropriate topics for the journal include work and family, families in business, families in poverty, family resource management, family economic and financial behavior, technology and family economic issues, health and family economic issues, public policy and family economic issues, economic issues of special populations (women, children, elders, minorities and immigrants) and cultural comparisons of family economic issues. Manuscripts should not exceed 35 double-spaced pages in length. No submission fee is needed. More information can be found from the journal's website: <http://www.kluweronline.com/issn/1058-0476>. Submit four copies of manuscript to Dr. Jing Jian Xiao, University of Rhode Island, Transition Center, Kingston, RI 02881. E-submission is allowed and sent to (xiao@uri.edu).

Call for papers. The Eighth Annual Conference of European Society for the History of Economic Thought (ESHET) will be held on February 26–29, 2004, at the Università Ca' Foscari, Venezia and Treviso, Italy. The theme of the Conference is "Money and Markets," but proposals for papers or sessions on all aspects of the history of economic thought are welcome. Submit an abstract of no more than 200 words for a paper or no more than 400 words for a session before September 15, 2003. Ph.D. students are invited to present a paper to a special seminar held on the day prior to the conference. Proposals may be submitted by e-mail to (eshet2004@unive.it) or by post to Eshet 2004, Università Cà Foscari, Sede di Treviso, Riviera

S.ta Margherita, 78, 31100 Treviso (Italia) or by fax to Eshet 2004 at 0039-0422-513510. Information about the conference will be posted on the conference website: (<http://www.unive.it/eshet2004>).

Call for papers. The 2004 Business & Economics Society International Conference will be held in the island of Rhodes/Greece, July 19–22, 2004. You may participate as panel organizer, presenter of one or two papers, chair, moderator, discussant or observer. The deadline for abstract submission and participation is March 30, 2004. All papers will pass a blind peer review process for publication consideration in an anthology of selected papers from the conference. For more information, please contact Helen Kantarelis at Business & Economics Society International, 64 Holden Street, Worcester, MA 01605-3109, USA; tel.: (508) 595-0089; e-mail: (hkan@besiweb.com); web address is (<http://www.besiweb.com>).

The Global Business & Economics Review, published semiannually by the Business & Economics Society International (B&ESI), is accepting papers for publication consideration in any field of business and economics. Manuscripts submitted to the Review must be original contributions and should not be under consideration for any other publication. Priority will be given to manuscripts that deal with the implication of globalization, especially written for the educated layperson. Interested authors should submit four copies of original manuscripts in English, with authorship identified on a removable cover page, accompanied by a submission fee of $30 (payable to B&ESI), to Editor, GBER, 64 Holden Street, Worcester, MA 01605-3109, USA. For more information, please contact the B&ESI by regular mail or at (hkan@besiweb.com).

Call for papers. To expand our understanding of these important issues, the Eastern Economic Journal seeks articles for a special issue on Health Economics on the following topics: determinants of health care spending and outcomes, payment systems and regulation; HMOs, PPOs and social security; technical change, institutional change and health care improvements; industrial organization of health care—hospitals, nursing shortages, competing insurance/health care offerings; and disparities in outcomes and provision, across income, culture, region. Submission deadline is October 1, 2003.

Selected papers will be presented at the February 2004 Eastern Economic Association meetings in Washington and then after revision, published in a special issue. Please submit 5 copies of your manuscript to Health Economics Issue, Eastern Economic Journal, Department of Economics, University of Delaware, Newark, DE 19716-2720, or send as attachment to <KofordK@lerner.udel.edu>.

Announcement of a new journal. A new journal, Division of Labour and Transaction Costs, has been launched by the Research Centre of Increasing Returns and Economic Organisation at Monash University in association with the Society for Inframarginal Economics. The aim of the journal is to publish contributions that explore the tradeoff between transaction costs and the economies of specialization made possible by the division of labor, the implications thereof and related issues. Please submit manuscripts in e-copy, size 12 font, 1.5 line spacing, narrow margins, in Microsoft Word or .pdf to <kwang.ng@buseco.monash.edu.au>.

Oxford University Press is pleased to announce the launch of the new Journal of Financial Econometrics (JFEC). JFEC's aims are to address substantive statistical issues raised by the tremendous growth of the financial industry and to advance the relationship between econometrics and finance at the methodological and empirical levels. JFEC's core focus encompasses estimation, testing, learning, prediction and calibration in the framework of asset pricing or risk management. Topics covered include volatility processes, continuous-time processes, dynamic conditional moments, extreme values, long memory, dynamic mixture models, endogenous sampling, transaction data and microstructure of financial markets. Methodological issues associated with the econometrics of experimental and behavioral finance are also of interest. Papers may be submitted via e-mail to <jfec@cirano.qc.ca>. Alternately, three printed copies can be mailed to René Garcia or Eric Renault, Editor, Journal of Financial Econometrics, CIRANO, 2020, University Street, 25th Floor, Montréal (Québec), Canada H3A2A5. For further information, please consult the JFEC website at <www.jfec.oupjournals.org>.

Call for papers. The Ukrainian Economic Review is soliciting papers focusing on the Ukrainian economy. Topics addressing transition economies, direct foreign investment, the Ukrainian banking system, emerging intermediaries in the real estate market, tax reform, trade barriers, macroeconomic stabilization policy and social welfare issues are especially welcome. UER is a peer reviewed journal. Send questions to Professor Myroslaw J. Kyj at 610-499-1173 (phone) or by e-mail (<myroslaw.j.kyj@widener.edu>). Manuscripts should be sent in electronic format.

Call for papers. The review Innovations, Cahiers d'économie de l'innovation announces the International Symposium John Kenneth Galbraith, which will be held in Paris (France), on September 23–25, 2004. To be considered, please send a three-page abstract as an e-mail attachment to lab.RII (<laperche@univ-littoral.fr>). The deadline for submission is March 15, 2004. Final versions of papers will be expected by June 30, 2004. Proposed papers may be related to Galbraith's approach of political economy; the economic fluctuations of capitalism; firms and industrial organization issues; the regulating institutions of capitalism; development issues. For more information, please consult our website (<http://www-heb.univ-littoral.fr/rii>).

Call for papers for the 43rd annual meeting of the Southern Regional Science Association to be held in New Orleans, Louisiana, March 11–13, 2004. The SRSA invites papers and organized sessions in all areas of regional economics. Please submit abstracts by e-mail to Mark Partridge, St. Cloud State University (<mpartridge@stcloudstate.edu>), by December 15, 2003. Visit the SRSA website at <http://www.srsa.org> for further information.

Call for papers. The electronic quarterly Econ Journal Watch will bring lively commentary to professional economics. It will watch the journals for inappropriate assumptions, dubious chains of argument, phony claims of relevance and omissions of pertinent truths. Primary content will be comments on articles that have appeared in recent issues of prestigious economics journals. A variety of additional EJW material—essays, reflections, investigations, classic critiques—will speak to the nature and character of economics as a discipline. The first issue will appear January 2004 at <econjournalwatch.org>. Authors are invited to contact the editor with manuscripts or ideas for comments and papers: <editor@econjournalwatch.org>.

Call for papers. The Risk Theory Society will be holding its annual Seminar on April 16–18, 2004, at the Manhattan campus of St. John's University. The Risk Theory Society is a group of economists, financial economists and actuaries who undertake theoretical and applied research in the broad areas of insurance economics, financial economics related to the insurance industry and actuarial science. The Risk Theory Society invites interested parties to submit a paper for the 2004 meeting. Five-page abstracts (or a rough draft of a paper) on any relevant topic should be e-mailed before December 15, 2003, to Professor Pierre Picard, Paris X—Nanterre University; E-mail: <pierre.picard@u-paris10.fr>. For more information, please contact Professor Picard or visit the Risk Theory Society website at (<<http://aria.org/rts>>).

Call for papers. The Second International Conference on Economics and Human Biology will be held in Munich, Germany, June 10–13, 2004. The conference will explore the symbiotic relationship between humans, as biological beings, and the economy, broadly conceived. Relevant topics include, but are not limited to, the impact of economic processes and economic policy on biological welfare and health outcomes; the impact of government intervention programs on health and health inequality; feedback effects from biological outcomes to the economy; the use of anthropometric indicators to assess welfare, poverty and malnutrition; and related econometric issues. Proposals for presentation should be submitted ASAP to <Joerg.Baten@uni-tuebingen.de> or to John Komlos, <jk@econhist.de>.

Call for papers. Advances in Financial Economics, Special Issue on Corporate Governance, invites submissions on corporate governance broadly defined as the system of controls that helps corporations and other organizations effectively manage, administer and direct economic resources. Papers are welcome that deal with the role played by boards of directors, organization design and corporate governance mechanisms inside the firm, franchise agreements and strategic alliances. Studies of the corporate governance implications of the ownership structure of the firm, or the complex array of divergent claims on the value of the firm, are also appropriate. Submission deadline is September 1, 2003. Contact Anil Makhija, Ohio State University, 700 E. Fisher Hall, 2100 Neil Avenue, Fisher College of Business, Columbus, OH 43210; e-mail: <makhija_1@osu.edu>; tel.: 614-292-1899.

Call for papers. The European Science Foundation will hold a workshop, "Market Performance and the Welfare Gains of Market Integration in History," in Florence, during June 2004. (Exact date will be communicated later.) The workshop attempts to open up new perspectives in commodity market integration analysis by focusing on the welfare impact of market integration. Papers that look at market integration between geographically separated markets and that deal with how improvements in market performance can be measured and estimated are welcome. Also, papers that focus on the historical evolution and welfare consequences of one or several trade barriers, such as tariffs, imperfect information and transport costs, are invited. Please send a two-page abstract by September 15, 2003, to Karl Gunnar Persson, Institute of Economics, University of Copenhagen, Studiestræde 6, DK-1455, Copenhagen, Denmark; e-mail: <karlgunnar.persson@econ.ku.dk>.

Call for papers for "Mending the Global Economy: A Role for Economic Participation." We invite paper submissions from all relevant fields of study for the Twelfth Conference of the International Association for the Economics of Participation (IAFEP). The major themes of the conference will be the following: How can economic participation improve globalization outcomes? What has been the impact of globalization on economic participation? The future of economic democracy in the global economy; Globalization and cooperatives—problems and solutions; Economic development and cooperatives; Theory and practice of development participation. Presentations in the following areas are also welcome: worker participation; self-management, labor-managed firms; code-termination and works councils; employee ownership; economic and industrial democracy; profit sharing. Send abstracts (up to 400 words) electronically to <IAFEP@smu.ca>. The deadline for abstracts is October 1, 2003, for participants from developing countries seeking travel support, and January 15, 2004, for others. Abstracts can also be mailed on a disk to Sonja Novkovic, Economics, Saint Mary's University, Halifax NS, B3H 3C3 Canada. More information can be found at (<http://www.stmarys.ca/academic/commerce/economic/IAFEP/IAFEP\_HomePage.htm>).

Call for papers. The Program on Comparative Economic Development (PCED), Cornell University, will host an international conference, "75 Years of Development Research," during May 7–9, 2004. In the 75 years since Allyn Young's classic paper, "Increasing Returns and Economic Progress" (1928), written at Cornell, the discipline of development studies has rapidly advanced. The conference, meant to be a major stock-taking of the discipline, will include invited sessions as well as sessions based on submitted papers. The PCED encourages the submission of papers on diverse topics and using diverse methods, as long as they have a bearing on development and the well-being of poor nations. Completed papers or long abstracts may be submitted by January 31, 2004, and preferably earlier. Those needing financial support are encouraged to send completed papers by the first week of December. Conference information can be obtained from and submissions can be sent to Dan Wszolek, Department of Economics, Uris Hall, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY 14853; e-mail: <dev75years-mailbox@cornell.edu>; fax: 1-607-255-2818. For updates and more detailed information, see <<http://www.arts.cornell.edu/econ/75years.htm>>.

The International Health Economics Association (iHEA) is pleased to invite nominations for the Twelfth Annual Kenneth J. Arrow Award in Health Economics for best paper in health economics in 2003. In order to be eligible, a paper must have been published in a peer-reviewed journal in English in 2003. Nominations should include a brief letter of nomination and a copy of the paper. Please send nominations by May 1, 2004, to Wynand PMM van de Ven, Chair, Kenneth J. Arrow Award Committee, Department of Health Policy and Management, Erasmus University Rotterdam, Burgemeester Oudlaan 50, P. O. Box 1738, 3000 DR Rotterdam, The Netherlands.

Call for papers for "Economics of Technological Change in Medical Care: Concepts, Measures, and Models." The implications of technological change generally and particularly in health and medicine are rapidly growing areas of policy research in economics and allied disciplines. Therefore, in the leading spirit of Zvi Griliches, his co-researchers and their followings, this special issue solicits high-quality contributions for possible publication in the summer or fall 2004 issue of The Quarterly Review of Economics and Finance (QREF). Papers focusing on conceptual, economic measurements and quantitative analyses of technology and technological progress in pharmaceuticals, health and medical care are appropriate. Please submit four (4) copies of the manuscript through the U.S. mail (no electronic submissions, please) to Albert A. Okunade, Guest Editor, Summer 2004 QREF, Department of Economics, Rm. 450BB (The FCBE), The University of Memphis, Memphis, TN 38152. The Guest Editor can entertain e-mail enquiries at <aokunade@memphis.edu>. Submission deadline is September 30, 2003.

Call for papers. The American Journal of Economics and Sociology (AJES) is looking for research papers on the political economy of natural resource economics with a special emphasis on what we know about these processes in light of public policy and geopolitical change. A selection will be invited for inclusion in a January 2005 gala issue of The American Journal of Economics and Sociology (AJES). Authors interested in participating should submit a 600-word abstract to the journal editor: Professor Laurence S. Moss, Economics Department, Babson College, Babson Park, MA 02457, USA; or <LMOS@AOL.COM>. The deadline for submissions of the abstracts is November 30, 2003. The proposed final version of the paper will be due on February 1, 2004.

Call for papers. Utilities Policy announces a special issue dedicated to the topic of regulating service quality in public utilities. Papers should provide in-depth analysis of key trends in service quality and information relevant to academics, government officials and management involved in studying, regulating or improving the quality of utility services. Papers should be appropriate for the target audience, which includes executives, managers and policymakers in utility companies worldwide; policymakers and analysts in national and regional governments; university researchers; and consultants. See <<http://authors.elsevier.com/JournalDetail.html?PubID=30478&Precis=>> for submission requirements. Send questions to Drs. Mark Jamison or Sanford Berg, Public Utility Research Center, University of Florida, at 352-392-6248 or by e-mail to <jamisoma@ufl.edu> or <sberg@ufl.edu>.

Announcement of award. Professor David Sappington, Lanzillotti-McKethan Eminent Scholar and Director of the Public Policy Research Center at the University of Florida, was awarded the Distinguished Service Award at the Public Utility Research Center's 2003 Annual Conference in recognition of his contributions to our understanding of the interplay of information and incentives in determining regulatory decisions and the performance of regulated firms. He served as Chief Economist at the Federal Communications Commission in 2002. The award recognizes the cumulative impact of an individual's research and policy analyses on both the academic community and regulatory policymakers. To nominate an individual for the 2004 award, contact Sanford V. Berg, (sberg@ufl.edu).
