

AEJApp-2011-0238.R1 - Development Effects of Electrification: Evidence from the Topographic Placement of Hydropower Plants in Brazil

Disclosure Statement: Mushfiq Mobarak

This paper has received financial support from the University of Colorado NICHHD Population Center, Corporacion Andina de Fomento, Center for Advancement in Research and Teaching in the Social Sciences at the University of Colorado, the National Science Foundation, and the Macmillan Center at Yale University. None of these funders reviewed results before this paper was submitted for publication.

Author Disclosure Statements

Mushfiq Mobarak has held the following positions during the period in which this research was conducted: Co-chair of the Urban Services Initiative for the Abdul Latif Jameel Poverty Action Lab (JPAL), hosted by MIT; Lead Academic for the Bangladesh Research Program at the International Growth Centre (LSE and Oxford University); and Consultant and Research Affiliate at Innovations for Poverty Action, for projects funded by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation. His summer salary is paid by the Yale School of Management. None of these institutions have any stake in the results of the research or the conclusions of the study, and none reviewed the study before it was submitted for publication.