

README :

There are two zipped files. One is called datafiles.zip and provides the data sets used for estimation and simulation and a readme file. The other is called programs.zip and provides all of the programs used for estimation and simulation and a separate readme file.