

Inefficient Hiring in Entry-Level Labor Markets
Amanda Pallais

The author declares that she has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in the paper. The funding for this experiment came from the George and Obie Shultz Fund at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the academic research funds of David Autor and Esther Duflo. The author received no financial support from Interested Parties.

IRB approval for this study was obtained from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (Amanda Pallais's institution at the time of the experiment).