To: The American Economic Review

Disclosure statement for the paper “Offshoring, Immigration and American Jobs” (with Giovanni Peri and Greg Wright):

As requested by the AEA disclosure policy, I am disclosing in this statement the following information:

Paid work:

- Partial teaching buy-out from the Centre for Economic Performance (CEP) of the LSE (<http://cep.lse.ac.uk>) whose Globalisation program I am associated with.
- Non-resident senior fellowship at Bruegel Brussels (www.bruegel.org). This involves the scientific coordination of a research project financed by the European Commission under its FP7 framework. The title of the project is "European Firms In the Global Economy" (www.efige.org). It started in 2008 and will run until Summer 2012.
- FEEM fellowship (www.feem.it). This involves the scientific coordination of the local unit of an international research project financed by the VW Foundation until 2013. The title of the project is "Europe and Global Challenges. Europe's Global Linkages and the Impact of the Financial Crisis: Policies for Sustainable Trade, Capital Flows, and Migration". The project is coordinated by IAW Tuebingen (www.iaw.edu).
