Funding and Outside Activities (as of 9/2012)

Steven Kaplan is the Neubauer Family Distinguished Service Professor of Entrepreneurship and Finance at the University of Chicago Booth School of Business, where he joined the faculty in 1988. Professor Kaplan is also the faculty director of Chicago Booth's Polsky Center for Entrepreneurship.

I receive research funding from Chicago Booth that I spend on the research topics of my choosing.

In addition to my role as a faculty member, I have a few outside activities and affiliations. In the past three years I have:

- . been a research associate and faculty research fellow of the National Bureau of Economic Research (NBER), a nonprofit organization devoted to economic research.
- . served on the board of Accretive Health, Columbia Acorn Funds, Morningstar and The Parking Spot
- . served on advisory boards of Sandbox Industries and Correlation Ventures.
- . served on advisory boards of non-profits, Center for Venture Education, University of Chicago Lab Schools, Chicago National Association of Corporate Directors, Illinois Venture Capital Association.
- . periodically received standard speaking fees, consulting fees, or honoraria. I have received these types of fees from each of the following organizations: Accenture, Beecken Petty, Bloomberg, Boston Consulting Group, Cato Institute, Family Capital, Goldman Sachs, Google, ILPA, IMCA, Kauffman Foundation, KPMG, Madison Dearborn, NBER, Northern Trust and Sterling Capital.
