

Disclosure Statement

Identifying the Harm of Manipulable School-Choice Mechanisms

The data presented in this paper were obtained under a data-sharing agreement with the Wake County Public School System. The agreement allowed the authors access to confidential WCPSS data. WCPSS retained no editorial control over the authors' work. We will provide all programs required to replicate the analysis and those data that can be made available under our data-sharing agreement.

However, we will only be able to make confidential data available for the sole purpose of peer review. Interested researchers may obtain the confidential data available by entering into a data-sharing agreement with the Wake County Public School System. We have an IRB-approved protocol in place for this process.

Umut Dur

I declare that I have no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

Robert G. Hammond

I declare that I have no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

Thayer Morrill

I declare that I have no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.