

Disclosure Statement for : Long-Term Care Insurance: Information Frictions and Selection

I have no personal financial conflict of interest for this article, nor does anyone in my household. I hold diversified mutual and exchange traded funds invested in the stock market but have no direct financial position with an interested party with a stake related to this article. I have not received compensation for this research. The Chair I hold is partially financed through the Institut sur la retraite et l'épargne at HEC Montréal. Although the Institut receives its funding from financial institutions, including insurance companies, and individuals, I personally have no direct contact with them.

Other than general research funding organizations in Canada (FRQSC and SSHRC), I also receive funding from the Ministry of Finance of the Province of Quebec for work not related to the present article; the Ministry may have an indirect stake in this research. The funding was provided via a research center (CIRANO).

Martin Boyer