

Disclosure Statement

I declare that I have no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper. Prior to circulation, this paper was reviewed in accordance with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York review policy:

The New York Fed reserves the right to require pre-publication changes to papers appearing in its working paper series Staff Reports. Such changes are strictly limited to ensuring that Staff Reports do not offer concrete predictions about impending monetary policy or regulatory actions, or otherwise violate applicable rules on the use of confidential information or standards of professional conduct. In addition, Staff Reports must not violate contractual obligations to data vendors.

While management in the Research Group may suggest substantive changes to Staff Reports on the basis of criteria other than those specified in the above paragraph, whether and how to respond to such suggestions are at authors' sole discretion. Authors of Staff Reports are solely responsible for ensuring that all claims made in their work are well supported by evidence and that limitations of the analysis are clearly described.

See: https://www.newyorkfed.org/research/staff_reports