

The author declares that he has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in the paper “Why are Banks Exposed to Monetary Policy?”

Pablo Kurlat
University of Southern California
Department of Economics