

Disclosure Statement for “Ask and You Shall Receive? Gender Differences in Regrades in College”

Cher Hsuehhsiang Li
Federal Communications Commission

The author declares that she has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

This research was supported by research funds of the two authors.

The survey instrument, experiment, and study methods were approved by the IRB at Colorado State University. Dr. Li was an assistant professor there when the data were collected.