Paper: Negotiating Cooperation under Uncertainty: Communication in Noisy, Indefinitely Repeated Interactions

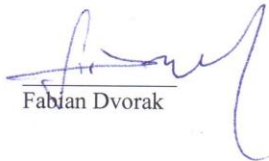

Journal: American Economics Review: Microeconomics

Authors: Fabian Dvorak and Sebastian Fehrler

No IRB approval was obtained for this project as the University of Konstanz, whose subject pool we used, does not require an IRB approval for this type of experiment. The LakeLab (University of Konstanz), where our experiment was conducted, follows a strict no-deception rule and the lab management made sure that we complied to it.

I declare that I have no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

Regards,

Fabian Dvorak
