

Disclosure Statement – Journal of Economic Perspectives

Marionette Holmes

“Valuing Identity in the Classroom: What Economics Can Learn from Education in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics”

The author declares that she has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.