

Disclosure statement for Eileen van Straelen for “Borrowing and Spending in the Money: Debt Substitution and the Cash-out Refinance Channel of Monetary Policy”

Eileen van Straelen has no conflicts of interest to disclose. This project was not supported by any external source of funding. Prior to circulation, the paper was subject to external review by Equifax to ensure no data was traceable to identifiable individuals or institutions. The paper did not undergo IRB review as the paper does not involve collection of new data on human subjects, and the Board does not have an IRB.

Eileen van Straelen is an affiliate of the Guthrie Center for Real Estate Research at the Kellogg School of Management, Northwestern University.
