

Disclosure Statement

“The Current Era of Health Care Consolidation”

Michael Richards has no external funding support tied to this article. During the past three years, he has received research consulting payments from Brown University and payments for expert witness work. None of those payments were related to this article, and he has no conflicts of interest to disclose.