April 14, 2026

Disclosure Statement for "The Inflation Attention Threshold and Inflation Surges"

I have no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research in this paper. This paper has not benefited from sources of financial support or received financial support from an interested party.

I did not seek ethics approval, since only existing publicly accessible datasets (both freely available and available through common university subscriptions) were used.

Oliver Pfäuti
The University of Texas at Austin