

Austin Boyle Disclosure Statement

1. This article did not receive any financial support.
2. TUCE norming data were provided by Bill Walstad with the following condition:
“So I am sending you the spreadsheet on the condition that it be confidential to you and that you do not share it with anyone else. All I ask in return is that you give me some review comments on it (positive or negative) from a user perspective.”
3. I am not affiliated with any organizations relevant to this research.
4. The disclosures above apply for all my close relatives and partner.
5. Drafts of the article were sent to individual economist friends of the authors in an effort to make improvements, but the article was not openly available before uploading to the ASSA website for the conference.

IRB: This research was designated “exempt” by the Pennsylvania State University IRB.