Disclosure Statement

I have worked as an advisor to the state of California on matters relating to the impacts of climate change impacts and climate policy. Specifically I have received grant funding from the California Energy Commission to support work on the impacts of climate change on the electricity and natural gas sector. I have also received grant funding for a study currently in progress looking at the environmental justice implications of climate change through the increase in emissions of local air pollutants from peaker plants. I have advised the California Air Resources Board on different aspects of climate policy in a remunerated advisory capacity. Specifically I have provided advice on the economic costs of renewing the cap and trade program in California as well as the use of the Social Cost of Carbon in State and Federal rulemaking.

The total grant money received is roughly $300,000. I have so far been paid $5,000 as an honorarium from CARB but continue to work with them in an advisory capacity.

Sincerely,
