

Disclosure Statement for “Is No News (Perceived As) Bad News? An Experimental Investigation of Information Disclosure”

Daniel Martin

The author declares that he has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper. Funding for this project came exclusively from our academic research budgets. Harvard University IRB approval was obtained for all experiments performed at the CLER laboratory at the Harvard Business School, and New York University IRB approval was obtained for all experiments performed at the CESS laboratory at New York University. I have nothing else to disclose.

A handwritten signature in black ink, reading "Daniel Martin". The signature is written in a cursive style with a small horizontal line above the first 'D'.

Daniel Martin