

While I served as Assistant Secretary of the U.S. Treasury from 2009 to 2010, I was involved in deliberations about rescuing and restructuring the U.S. auto industry, and I later served as Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers in the Obama Administration from 2011 to 2013, which had an interest in the success of the auto industry. Over the past year, I have given paid speeches to many financial, business, nonprofit and university groups. Some of those speeches have been to entities that may have had commercial involvement with the automobile industry as suppliers, investors, lenders, consultants or commercial partners but I do not have direct knowledge of their business involvement as I served only as a keynote speaker at meetings and conferences.
