Disclosure Statement for “Pre-Analysis Plans in Economics”

- I am a Director of the Abdul Latif Jameel Poverty Action Lab (JPAL) at MIT, an organization which advocates the increased use of randomized controlled trials in economics.
- JPAL was involved in the development of the AEA Social Science Trial registry, and requires its affiliated professors to register trials using the AEA registry (<https://www.socialscienceregistry.org/>) for their projects.
- JPAL as an organization does not have a stated position on pre-analysis plans, which are the subject of this piece, and does not require its affiliated professors to file statistical analysis plans.
